

Diamond collector

G2_RT11

This is a game for two players (you can choose to play against the computer if you wish). Each player gets to specify three lines, with the aim of collecting as many diamonds as possible.

Eventually there will be a version of this with levels that allow people to collect diamonds by specifying circles as well as lines.

Relevance

E2

How is the solution of equations related to problems in geometry?

G2

What is the connection between algebra and geometry, and how can we exploit it?